To Schedule More Intensive Drills

Bodien Describes Plans For The New Year

"DOWN TO BUSINESS"

More intensive air raid drills, both city and state supervised, are in store for all civilian defense workers of this city in 1943, Arthur J. Bodien, head of the Civilian Defense Council, announced Monday as he described plans for the new year.

"We are getting down to business at our next regular meeting," Bodien said. "We won't be meeting this week because our meeting night falls on New Year's Eve, but we will start out next week.

"We expect to have plenty of air raid drills starting soon. The OCD inspection team will be in Daly City again before long for another look at our civilian defense preparations. But, before they come, we want to have several local drills, making up our own incidents."

Purchase by the city of the walkie-talkie, army type radio communication, would possibly be made for use in defense here, Bodien said. Interest in the walkie-talkie began several weeks ago when Peter Becker, local amateur radio operator, explained its function at a defense meeting, pointing out its value as a communication means in Daly City.

Auxiliary police training continued under superivision of the Daly City Police department this week as another class was held, Tuesday night, at the Jefferson Union high school auditorium. Special badges arrived, this week, for auxiliary police officers, and they are being distributed by the police department to 122 volunteers, Police Chief James G. Reardon announced. They were purchased by individual auxiliary officers.

In the class, Tuesday, at the high school, Inspector Myron Hook of the San Francisco police department traffic detail showed sound moving picture films on traffic control to Daly City's volunteers. Inspector Hook is in charge of the courses for local auxiliary police at weekly meetings, held every Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium.

Housing Shortage Acute in San Mateo

According to the San Mateo County War Housing center at 1615 Floribunda avenue, Burlingame, the housing shortage in this county is especially acute. Efforts of all War Housing centers in the entire Bay area have succeeded in properly lodging only about 15 per cent of qualified applicants.

An appeal is made to all home and apartment house owners in San Mateo county to list any vacancies that may occur with the housing center in Burlingame. Phone Burlingame 4-2581.

In addition, the center announces that the policy of the Federal government is to encourage the conversion of vacant properties into habitable dwelling places in which to house war workers rather than to erect new buildings. The War Production board has ordered the N. H. A. to conserve all materials possible and the smaller amount of metals needed in remodeling of old properties will furnish material for millions of bullets which otherwise would be used in the walls of new buildings. If anyone has a vacant build-

Watch For Deadline On Tire Inspection

Operators of commercial trucks and vehicles in Daly City and Colma were reminded today that Friday, January 15, is the deadline for completing tire inspections, while Sunday, January 31, is the last day for passenger car tire inspection.

Practically all service stations are official tire inspection places, and all motorists were urged to have their tires inspected as soon as possible to avoid last minute rushes. They must have with them the tire inspection form they re-

Draft, Rationing Meant Sacrifices For Local Families

BY BOB BAKER

With the arrival of the new year, and the inevitable hope of victory stronger than ever, Daly City bids farewell to 1942, a year marked by more changes in civic, social, and family life than this community has ever known. As America's first year of war, it was a year of sacrifice for Daly City's family life. Rationing and draft both took their toll in Daly City, even though we are promised even more sacrifices are to be made in the year to come; a once brightly lighted Mission street was darkened by the army's dimout order; the home front gave up spare time and even jobs for war work.

Recalling 1942 and each week's news, the Daly City Record offers its readers a headline parade of the year: (the following dates represent the publication date and NOT the date of the incident).

Daly City, like all the Allied World, regards the arrival of the new year with renewed hope for a speedy victory over Hitler's hordes. All of the usual New Year festivities must take a back seat until after the more urgent business of winning the war is done.

Christmas Rush For Local Police

Handle Score of Cases Over Holiday Week-end

Daly City police had a Christmas rush over the holiday week-end, handling a score of cases among which were five automobile accidents, four charges of disturbing the peace, one petty theft, and one county violation.

Surprisingly few resulted in casualties, as only one or two minor injuries were reported. Two of the automobile accidents involved pedestrians struck by cars.

Two pedestrians, Henry Beyer, San Francisco, and Tommy R. Porter, a soldier, were struck by a car while standing in the safety zone on Mission street near Hillcrest drive. Driver of the machine, Bernard Scherf, San Francisco, was found to be intoxicated, police said. His car was taken away from him and he was jailed. Scherf was released on payment of $500 bail to appear in court, yesterday afternoon, on a drunken driving with injury charge. The pedestrians were only slightly injured.

Larry Shaw, 9 Shakespeare avenue, sustained a slightly injured ankle, Christmas day, when he was struck by a car backing out of a parking place in front of 6286 Mission street. Andrew Whipple, San Francisco, the driver, not

Many Offices Close For New Year's Day

Public buildings and offices in Daly City will be closed all day tomorrow in observance of New Year's.

Daly City and Colma branches of the Bank of America will be closed, as will the Daly City branch of the post office. All offices in the city hall will be closed all day with the exception of the police department and Daly City Draft Board No. 103. Most of the closed ones will be open Saturday morning, however.

Daly City grammar schools, both Jefferson district and Perpetual Help parochial school, and Jefferson Union high school will re-open, Monday morning.

Fields Sees Action On Guadalcanal

Now visiting with his parents in Daly City, after seeing action in the recent battle for Henderson field on Guadalcanal, Sergeant Clifford Fields of the United States Marine Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Fields, 68 Risel street, is here on thirty days leave from duty.

Sergeant Fields, member of the ground squadron which defended the vitally important Allied air base from heavy Japanese bombardment, arrived in Daly City, Thursday, December 17, to spend Christmas with his parents and

Prepare For Point Rationing Of Foods

Local Board Warns Against Any Hoarding

In preparing for the nationwide point rationing of more than 200 kinds of foods in February, War Price and Rationing Board No. 31-4 warned Daly City civilians and all others in the board's area against hoarding food between now and the time when rationing will begin.

Although national food administrators have delivered sound warnings to the American people about hoarding and over-buying, the local board stressed its personal warning to persons in this area.

Foods which will be placed on the strict point rationing plan will include virtually all canned, frozen, and dried fruits, vegetables and soups. It will include many dairy products, meat, and two commodities already rationed, sugar and coffee. Although no definite date has yet been released by OPA officials for rationing to start, Mrs. C. F. Day, executive secretary of the local board, announced that it will be "some time after the first of February."

Use of the war ration book, used now for sugar and coffee, will be the means of food buyers presenting coupons to their dealers. War

Council Gets No Protests On Bonds

Will Adopt Resolution At Next Regular Meet

THREE-YEAR CONTROVERSY

No protests on issuance of bonds for the Colma street project assessment were voiced from property owners at the regular council meeting, Monday. However, the resolution authorizing bonds to be issued was not passed at the meeting, since the council postponed its adoption until the next regular meeting.

Another question in the three year controversy was cleared up at the meeting when the city was informed by City Attorney F. E. Hoffman that, in the event that Julius Castelan, former city engineer, won his suit against the city, it would not affect the assessment amount. Castelan was city engineer when the street improvement project in the South end was begun.

Regulation by law of the conduct of minors on public streets and places within Daly City and the county was foreseen, as a uniform county ordinance was introduced at the meeting. No action on the county ordinance was taken.

The council denied a claim against the city by Miss Lucy Collopy for $25,000 damages sustained through vandalism on her property in the Colma area. The claim was from R. A. Rogers, San Francisco, attorney for the plaintiff. It was referred to City Attorney Hoffmann.

Two resolutions of minor importance, one cancelling taxes on certain school property and the other authorizing county allowances on the sale of property, were adopted.

A request for a blasting permit on property located at Bepler and Mission streets was read. The council laid the matter over to the next meeting.

Joe Patten, desk officer of the Daly City Police department, tendered his resignation from the department. On accepting it, the council appointed August Benassini to fulfill his job.

Night School To Reopen At Jeff

Either commercial jobs awaiting adult students or the satisfaction of "knowing how" can be gained by enrollees of Jefferson Union high school's adult night classes, which are re-opening, Tuesday evening.

Designed especially for educating adults in their spare time, the courses are free of charge. The only expense involved is for material in two of the many courses offered, arts and crafts and photography.

These night classes are held at the high school on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Hours are from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Courses which are offered are: arts and crafts, photography, shorthand and typing, bookkeeping, mimeographing, machine calculation, Americanization, and English for foreign speaking persons.

Several students of the high school's night school classes have been offered commercial positions, notably those from comptometer classes. Many attractive Christmas gifts in pottery classes were made by adult night students.

State Government Cost Less This Year

State Controller Harry B. Riley today announced that the elimination of the State Relief administration had reduced the cost of state government in the fiscal year which ended last June 30 to the lowest point in five years.

Expenses other than relief jumped $16,569,548 over the preceding fiscal year, but the termination of the dole saved $25,894,146, enough to offset the increases and give a net decrease of $9,324,598 in the total cost of state government compared with 1940-41, Riley said.

Expenditures in 1941-42 totaled

Point Rationing

Ration Book 2 will be used as the coupon book, and registration for obtaining this book will probably be held in the schools, as was the case in book 1, Mrs. Day said. No date for obtaining book 2 has yet been given, but the deadline for persons to get book 1 has been set for Friday, January 15. Everyone must have book 1 in order to get the second book.

Already used very effectively in England, the point system of rationing will enable everyone to buy their fair share of food, and it will gradually eliminate hoarding altogether. Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard, in his nationwide radio broadcast, Sunday night, pointed out that foods which have already been off grocery shelves will be available to everyone in limited quantities.

Each type of food will be given a point value, such as corn, one point; beans, two points. This point value will be determined, for the most part, by the amount produced and the size of stock in warehouses. Purchase of foods in scarce quantities will require more points. Each coupon in the war ration book will represent a number of points depending on the type of food purchased. Foods with a higher point value will require more coupons.

Before the rationing starts, retail sales will be suspended briefly, as was done with coffee and sugar, to permit dealers to stock up. The OPA warned that in registering for the new ration book, consumers will have to declare all fruits and vegetables in their cupboards and that stamps will be deducted accordingly. Penalties are provided for false declarations.

Honor Two Local P. G. & E. Employees

Pacific Gas and Electric company employees of the San Francisco division, who have had five or more years of service, are being awarded service badges this week. In the past it has been customary for employee service badges to be awarded at an annual banquet presided over by P. M. Downing, the company's vice-president and general manager. However, because of transportation difficulties, this practice has been abandoned for the duration. Henry Bostwick, San Francisco division manager, will present the badges.

Among those awarded is Ernest S. Rutter, well-known manager of the Daly City office of P. G. and E. He receives a 25-year badge. Another Daly City man who received his 25-year badge is R. E. McDonough, 419 Winchester street. McDonough is a powerhouse operator at the P. G. and E.'s sub-station "D" in San Francisco.

Christmas Rush

knowing he had struck someone, did not stop, but he was picked up by Daly City police on his way into San Francisco.

Another accident involving only property damage on Christmas was when a car driven by George Bettencourt, San Francisco, was struck by Jess Krueter, Burlingame.

Joseph Becker, 824 Templeton avenue, and Dean Hyder, 138 Santa Cruz avenue, were involved in an accident, Saturday, near the corner of Santa Barbara and Knowles avenues.

Jack McCarthy, San Francisco, and James Dillon, 550 Evergreen avenue, were involved in a collision at Brunswick and Evergreen avenues, Sunday.

Answering a call from Ric's Place, San Pedro road, Christmas night, police found that Deputy Sheriff George Krehl had arrested John Docken, Colma, near there on a charge of petty theft. Docken was accused of breaking into a parked car belonging to Ed Allen, 6748 Mission street, and stealing an overcoat and several Christmas packages. Docken was booked at local police headquarters and later taken to Redwood City.

Three men charged with disturbing the peace during the holiday week-end were released on bail of $5 each and ordered to appear in court yesterday. They were: August De Rita, San Francisco; LeRoy Nicholson, 529 San Diego avenue; and H. C. Grove jr., 3008 San Jose avenue. Two sailors, also booked for disturbing the peace, were released, Saturday.

Picked up by state highway patrolmen, Floyd Listor, Colma, was turned over to local police for violating a county ordinance on intoxication. He will appear Thursday, January 7, having been released on $10 bail.

NAVY NEEDS MEN

Successful young business men can immediately fill an urgent need in the Naval Air Forces by replacing flying officers who now are "grounded" in administrative jobs, according to Captain C. L. Arnold, director of the Office of Naval Officer Procurement in San Francisco.

Young business men with executive experience, between 27 and 42, are wanted at once to take administrative positions at Naval air stations, relieving more flyers for combat duty.

Commissions will be granted in ranks appropriate to the applicant's experience.

A college degree is desired, but this requirement will be waived in the cases of men with unusual capabilities. Qualified candidates are urged to call at once at the office of Naval Officer Procurement, 703 Market street, San Francisco.

CURRENT ATTRACTION

Mickey Rooney's latest sweetheart of the screen is red-haired Tina Thayer, seen here with Mickey in M-G-M's latest hit, "A Yank at Eton," now playing at the Daly City Theatre. Mickey is starred in the film, as a typical American boy who suddenly finds himself a student in England's most exclusive school. Tina Thayer becomes the cause of most of his troubles with his screen stepbrother, Freddie Bartholomew.

Fields Sees Action

his wife. On his return to duty, Sergeant Fields will be sent to the Santa Ana flying field to have charge of the parachute ground squadron of the Marine Air corps. He will remain there for four months.

The Daly City youth, in describing the battle for possession of the strategic Henderson field, told his parents and friends of the terrific bombardment by Jap planes. At one time in particular, there were five days and nights of continuous attack during which no rest for the embattled ground squadron was to be had.

Although a member of the ground division, young Fields has had much flying experience. With nine years of experience with the Marine Air Corps behind him, Sergeant Fields has done a turn at piloting and gunning, besides ground work. He gained much of his flying time at Mills field before the war.

In addition to Guadalcanal, Sergeant Fields also participated in the Midway battle and was at Pearl Harbor during the fateful attack.

Fields has lived in Daly City with his parents for the past twenty years, having made his home address here during his service with the marine corps. His parents are well known here. The elder Fields is past president of the Daly City Veteran Firemen's association, and is fire marshal for the Daly City Fire department. Sergeant Fields' wife is also a Daly City resident, the former Miss Peggy Murray.

Rooney Stars In "A Yank At Eton"

Mickey Rooney proves again why he is Hollywood's number one star in "A Yank at Eton." The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film opens tonight at the Daly City theatre, and is another triumph for the inimitable Rooney.

As a typical American boy in England's most exclusive school, Mickey has some of the most hilarious scenes of his film career, and some of the most dramatic. He plays American football and English cricket. He runs a steeplechase. He leads twelve little Eton boys in a slapstick brawl with four husky waiters of a roadside inn. And he licks the Eton bully.

In short, there isn't much that Mickey doesn't do.

After a few preliminary events in America, and a shipboard romance with cute, red-haired Tina Thayer, the action really gets into full swing when Mickey arrives in England and is enrolled at Eton.

Resolved to dislike his new surroundings, he gets into one scrape after another. Then, when Freddie Bartholomew, as his English stepbrother, is suspected of stealing the housemaster's car and wrecking it, Mickey "takes the rap" and is "sacked."

But, when he learns that Freddie isn't guilty, he sets out to prove his own innocence. He does it, too, just in the nick of time, to be reinstated and run in the big steeplechase, which he wins from the school bully.

While Mickey is his usual brilliant self as "The Yank," Freddie Bartholomew, playing in his fifth picture with Rooney, also is outstanding. Now a full head taller than Mickey, he is hard to recognize as the little boy who once starred in "David Copperfield."

Several newcomers also are exceptional, including Tina Thayer and Marta Linden.

LIFT CURFEW REGULATIONS ON GERMAN ALIENS

Lieutenant General J. L. DeWitt, commanding general, Western Defense Command and Fourth Army, Wednesday night, December 23, announced the lifting of curfew regulations affecting German aliens in this area, and also the abolishment of more than one thousand zones designated as prohibited to enemy aliens under earlier proclamations.

In announcing his action in lifting the curfew, General DeWitt said "the need for the curfew no longer exists as other security measures have now been provided. Among these measures is the Individual Exclusion Procedure under which persons who are found, after hearing, to be dangerous or potentially dangerous to the military security of the West coast are excluded. I desire to make it plain, however, that there will be no retardation of the program to rid the West coast of such persons."

Curfew regulations were originally imposed by Public Proclamation No. 3, issued March 24, on all alien Japanese, Germans and Italians, and all persons of Japanese ancestry. All persons of Japanese ancestry were evacuated from strategic areas several months ago. Curfew regulations affecting Italian aliens were lifted by Public Proclamation No. 13, issued October 19.

The new orders are covered by Public Proclamations 14 and 15 and are effective at once. Proclamation No. 15 lifts the curfew regulations on Germans by formally revoking various paragraphs of Proclamation No. 3, issued March 24, and of Proclamation No. 6, issued June 2, relating to curfew rules. These regulations provided that all aliens affected must remain in their places of residence between 8 p. m. and 6 a. m. and must not travel more than five miles from such residence.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

There's something sad and irretrievable about seeing the Old Year out, but there's something so gay and provocative about seeing a New Year in that normally we celebrate the twin event in mellow mood, with the dew of yesterday and the sparkle of tomorrow all mixed together in an emotional cocktail which has intoxicated the human race since the first page was turned on the first calendar.

Man was not made to look backward for long, but always forward—to the new horizon, to the goal not yet achieved and to hopes not yet realized. In that, perhaps, lies our greatest good fortune, for when a New Year is born—no matter how difficult the year just gone may have been—we are given a new birth of confidence, new faith, new dreams, new courage to cope with whatever the little gods may have in store for us.

At the start of 1943, even with the din of war drowning out much of the din of the usual New Year's celebration, we have much to be grateful for, much to renew our faith, much to make us happy, despite the tears we may have shed as loved ones went off to induction centers and as our quiet, peaceful way of life was rudely changed during the months just past. We have this to be thankful for—that America is still free and will stay free, because we have learned to shoulder the responsibilities as well as accept the privileges which are part of our democratic heritage. During most of the year just gone, we tasted bitter defeat— a new experience to our proud America—but having proved that we can take it, we are now dishing it out to Hitler and Hirohito in such fashion that we can look forward to 1943, confident that if we all do our jobs—and all give the best that is in us—we can win the victory and have peace again in our world.

The New Year will be a momentous year, one of the most momentous in global history; that we know. It will bring setbacks and tragedy; that we must expect. But it will also be the year, we are confident, in which the tables will be turned against our enemies—not necessarily the year which will end the war (although that we may hope for), but certainly the year which will take us far toward the final victory. For that we can truly say, "Happy New Year!"

LEST WE FORGET

It must ever be borne in mind during these days of big government that in the last analysis the unspectacular plugging of private citizens in private industry is what is going to win the war. The people who are accomplishing production miracles are not on the public payroll.

They are the men who get the coal and metals out of our mines and the timber and food out of the mountains and from the land. They are the men who get the oil out of the ground, refine it to produce the cannon ball power required in modern war. They are the men who keep the assembly lines rolling. They are the millions of American workmen and business men without whom not a wheel would turn. They are the soul and the spirit of free enterprise.

In peacetime their energies were devoted to producing a better civilization. Today their energies are devoted to producing for war. Why? Bcause free enterprise and political liberty have been threatened by military aggression. To save our political liberty we must save free enterprise. We must save the right of a man to hold a job or operate a business without paying tribute to anyone, either in votes or money.

Some bureaucrats would like to impress the idea upon the people that a combination of political genius and public authority are the mainspring of the war effort; that industry was a hopeless shambles of squabbling business men until the guiding light of regimentation came to their rescue. Nothing could be further from the truth.

The government and our military forces now need the products of industry, just as in peacetime the public needed them. Consumer demand for more and better products was not followed by any claim that consumers created these products. Similarly, merely because military necessity requires the government to demand more and better machines of war, it certainly does not follow that government is the producer. It is not. And if the proper function of either government or industry becomes confused in the public mind, it bodes ill for the future of America.

PROTECT YOUR HOME

A year ago today Northern California Homes foundation was urging home building, as each family's best investment in unity and hope and happiness. Within that year not only lives, but purposes, have greatly changed. Now each family's happiness and security is dependent on the successful waging of war; individual effort to earn and establish a home is very rightly second to united effort to protect all homes, according to Bernard B. Barber, foundation head.

"So today Northern California Homes Foundation is urging 'PROTECT YOUR HOME'. Keep it in good repair; insulate it to save fuel; eliminate damp and draughts conserve it as you conserve tires, or sugar, or newly-rationed coffee.

Just Let Us Know!

This is an invitation from the Daly City Record to any local man in Uncle Sam's armed forces, or his "home folks" to let us know of promotions and activities that would be of interest to Daly City readers. We are always happy to publish such news. Since only a few of the training camps and officers' schools have public relations officers, we do not hear directly of many such promotions unless the men or their families themselves tell us.

When "Johnny" or "Joe" becomes corporal or goes off to officers' training school, let us know. Phone RAndolph 3215. That's NEWS to Daly City. In addition, our long-ago offer to send The Record free to any man fighting for Uncle Sam still holds. Just let us know your name and address.

Blanche Yurka Returns To Stage

COMING TO GEARY

Signalized by critical and popular acclaim as one of America's greatest actresses, Blanche Yurka returns to the stage, following an absence of four years, as the star of Jess Smith's production, "The Barber Had Two Sons," a play in three acts by James Hogan and Thomas Duggan, staged by Melville Burke. The play opens in San Francisco, Monday evening, January 4 at the Geary theatre.

Two of those four seasons, the distinguished actress devoted to what eventuated as a triumphal tour of the country with her own "One Woman Show."

In addition to re-enacting masterpieces of Ibsen (Hedda Gabler), Shakespeare (The Merchant of Venice), Aristophanes (Lysistrata), Sophocles (Electra), Blanche Yurka presented scenes from the more modern offerings of a number of the New York Theatre Guild's popular and successful plays.

Blanche Yurka's last appearance on the legitimate stage previous to starring in "The Barber Had Two Sons" was in Bruckner's "Gloriana."

For the past two seasons, Blanche Yurka has devoted her acting talents to stellar roles in all-star screen plays. Her final cinema performance, before deciding "The Barber Had Two Sons" a vehicle to bring about her return to the theatre, was as 'Citizen' Heidrick in "The Hangman"—a role said to overshadow even her great performance of Mme. DeFarge in "The Tale of Two Cities."

Transcontinental Cable Completed

Brief Ceremony Marks Opening Of Line

Voices traveled across North America through a telephone cable for the first time Monday, December 21, 1942.

N. R. Powley, president of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, in San Francisco, spoke with President Walter S. Gifford of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, in New York, in a brief ceremony, marking the official opening of the Bell Telephone system's new transcontinental cable from New York to San Francisco.

Following an exchange of greetings, Gifford said, "I am particularly glad to hear your voice at this moment, Mr. Powley, because it is coming to me over a line which we decided to build, three years ago, against the possibility of war with Japan. Because of that decision, you and I at this moment have the privilege of opening to regular service the new underground transcontinental cable of the Bell system. Now, for the first time in history, a telephone conversation can be carried all the way from coast to coast over a telephone cable, instead of going part of the way over open wires strung on crossarms on poles."

Two years of steady construction work across plains and mountains were required to build the new line, which runs underground for 1,600 miles from Omaha, Nebraska, to Sacramento, California, connecting at these points with existing cable networks of the East and Pacific coast. For most of its length the cable was buried in the soil by giant tractor-drawn plow trains which dug the furrow, laid the cable and covered it with earth in a continuous operation.

"There has been no telephone engineering and construction since the opening of the transcontinental line in 1915, linking the West with the East, that has meant more to the Pacific coast than the new transcontinental cable of the Bell system, service over which has been opened today," stated Powley at the end of his conversation with Gifford. "Again," he said, "we have made available to the telephone using public, facilities which not only safeguard communications, but also which provide for the continuance of speedy and dependable nationwide telephone service."

"Meet my wife and daughter—or vice-versa."

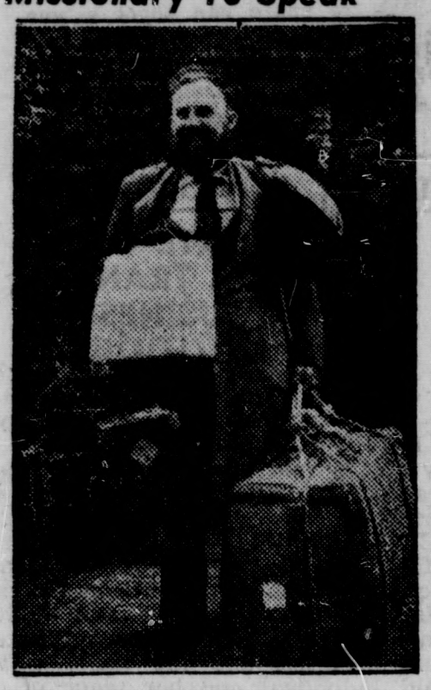
Missionary To Speak



Six months interned by the Japanese, and three months on the way home, traveling a total of 22,000 miles is part of the thrilling story that Reverend J. W. Pattee, returned missionary from China, will tell at the Grace Church of the Nazarene, Vista Grande and Santa Barbara, Friday evening, January 1, at 7:45 p. m.

Reverend Pattee was one of the nearly 1600 Americans who arrived August 25, in New York City, from the Far East on the Swedish liner, Gripsholm.

He spent six years in China as a missionary of the Church of the Nazarene. He saw fighting for five years between the Chinese and Japanese. Three times he was in the midst of a battle between the Chinese and Japanese.

When informed that they were to be repatriated, the missionaries were told that they could take what they could carry. In the picture Mr. Pattee is shown coming out of internment carrying his baggage. The Japanese would not allow him to take his typewriter or piano accordion. Nearly all of his other possessions were stolen by the Japanese.

The public is cordially invited to listen to this interesting speaker, according to Reverend N. M. Lewis.

Reverend Lewis announced that the annual watch night service would be held, jointly with First Church of the Nazarene at Twentieth and San Carlos streets, San Francisco, tonight, December 31, at 8 p. m. Congregation members and friends from Daly City are urged to attend.

How's YOUR Tin Can Collection Progressing?

"How is your tin can collection? All housewives are asked to save tin cans after they have been opened. Prepare them, and tuck them away in a box, for tin collectors in your block," the salvage committee urged.

The next tin collection is set for, Tuesday, January 12, date for tin to be picked up at the schools. However, this collection will be preceded by house to house collections by grammar school pupils.

Meat Markets Will Buy Waste Fats, Greases

Waste fats and greases, used as an ingredient in manufacturing high explosives, are being sold to meat markets in Daly City and Colma, and the salvage committee urged more housewives to join in the campaign.

Butchers are paying three cents a pound for the waste fats and greases. It should be prepared by straining it through a clean, white cloth into a tin container, NOT glass. Cooked fats should be kept separate from raw fats.

ceived when they registered for gasoline rationing.

The inspector's endorsement on the form must be made before the vehicle can be lawfully operated after the deadline date.

War Price and Rationing Board No. 31-4 also announced to truck owners that all appeals for supplemental gasoline quotas should be addressed now to the Office of Defense Transportation, 1355 Market street, instead of the Detroit headquarters. Their ODT certificate must be presented before the rationing board can supply them with more gasoline coupons.

Resolve to be a Really Good Cook

There's nothing quite so wasteful these days as economically prepared meals that the family just won't eat. And as victory begins at home, in fact, right in our own kitchens, why not start off 1943 by trying to be a really good cook.

Naturally, planning meals ahead is difficult with restrictions and rationing programs—but meals must be nutritionally good. As it's sometimes easier to plan well-balanced menus if you have a pattern by which to go, I think you'll find the ones given below particularly helpful.

SECTOR 15 NEEDS MORE VOLUNTEERS

So many of Sector 15's air raid wardens have gone off to war that the area is issuing an urgent appeal for more volunteers from that district at once. Anyone who would like to help with the important air raid warden duties for the Vista Grande neighborhood are asked to sign up at once at the city hall C. D. headquarters.

Sector warden for Precinct 15 is Melvin Smedley sr.

Of this group, Valente and Pezzola are at Miami Beach, Florida, in the army; Silvestri, now an army man, too, is at Camp Ord, while Janssen was begun navy training at Farragut, Idaho. This makes it plain to see why Sector 15 needs more volunteers for air raid warden duty, and, as Smedley points out, they are needed in a hurry.

SAN MATEO COUNTY GAINS IN POPULATION

Population of San Mateo county at January 1, 1943 is estimated at 133,000, a gain of 21,200 since the 1940 census, the annual estimate of population in California counties, made public today by California Taxpayers' association, shows. During 1942, the county grew by 6,600, the association estimates. The census showed 111,782 people in the county.

Population of California at January 1, 1943 is estimated to be 7,660,000, a gain of 750,000, or 11 per cent, since the 1940 census was taken, the association stated. About a third of this gain 235,000 was made during 1942. The 1940 census showed 6,907,387 persons in California. Only civil population is included in the estimates, the association said. Military personnel quartered in the state and the Japanese, 93,717 in 1940, are not included.

Population of eleven counties in the bay area at January 1, 1943 will be 2,274,100, compared with the census population, April, 1940, of 1,943,381. Estimate of the January 1, 1942 population of the area was 2,097,900. Gain from the census to 1943 is 330,700, and during 1942 the increase was 176,200 persons.

Counties included in the Bay area in the association's estimate are San Francisco, with a gain of 46,500 since the census; Alameda, with a growth of 68,000; Santa Clara, up 18,000; San Joaquin, growth of 10,000; San Mateo, increase of 21,000; Contra Costa, with the largest growth in this group of counties, 75,500; Stanislaus, an increase of 6,000; Sonoma, up 5,000; Marin, up 12,000; Solano, up 55,000; and Napa, up 13,500.

List Precautions On Water Supply

Ten precautions for householders in Daly City to take in case of failure of public water supply during air raids or other emergencies are being re-emphasized by Arthur J. Bodien, head of the local Civilian Defense Council. The rules were prepared by the Emergency Medical Division of the Regional OCD:

1. Keep available at least one quart of drinking water for each person in the house.
2. Always turn faucets off everywhere in the house when water service has failed.
3. Do not fill up bathtub with water following air raid alarms or during air raids.
4. Leave valves alone.
5. Remember that the water department knows the service is off in your area.
6. Discontinue immediately use of the flush toilet when service goes off.
7. Protect your health by boiling the drinking and cooking water if the health department so advises.
8. Accept chlorine tastes in your drinking water without complaining. It is a sign of safety.
9. Do not drink water obtained from other sources than your tap.
10. Do not believe or repeat rumors about water. The health authorities know the facts and will advise you.

MACARONI in Tomato Sauce with Cheese

by Dorothy Greig

WELL, who would ever think that extra zip could be added to our old favorite, macaroni and cheese! Goodness knows, it's full of flavor served in the customary way. But just wait until you taste it now. We have added a tomato sauce that snaps up the cheese flavor of the dish. Also, it coats the macaroni giving it a bright and most appetizing appearance. Here's how it goes:

2 tablespoons butter
3 cups macaroni, cooked
½ cup milk
1 can condensed tomato soup
¾ cup grated cheese

Melt butter in saucepan and add the cooked macaroni. Heat well and then add the milk. Cook the macaroni in the butter and milk until all liquids have been absorbed by the macaroni. Then add the tomato soup and grated cheese. Heat until the cheese is well melted and the flavors blended. Serves 6-8.

Back To Work?

Every women who has married since she last worked and now is contemplating re-entering employment should have her social security account number card corrected to show her legal name, according to Edward J. Foley, manager of the San Mateo Social Security Board office.

"You can do this by going to the nearest Social Security Board field office and securing a form, Request for Change of Records. If it is inconvenient to come to the office, you may request the form through the mail. In either case when submitting the form in person or through the mail, the original account number card must accompany the form. On receipt of the form requesting change in records and the account number card, a new card bearing the same number and the change in name will be issued immediately. If the account number card has been lost, it will be necessary to check our central records which means that a new card would not be issued for a few days."

Foley placed emphasis upon the fact that a woman should keep the same account number throughout her working life.
